SUPREME COURT. IN SUMMARY JURISDICTION. (Before Mr E. J. Ackroyd, Acting Paisne

 $Judge_c$) Tuesday, October 13.

LEON v. CHEUNG TOL. This was a claim for $1,000 for assault Mr Robinson, instructed by Mr Wilkinson, was for the plaintiff, and Mr Francis, Q.C., instructed by Messrs Wotton and Deacon. for the defence.

Mr Robinson said the plaintiff was the wife of a clerk in the employ of Messrs sum owing for rent, and on the 5th September the wife went to pay this money or a part of it. . Some dispute arose when she tendered payment and the defoudant abusoffice and told him of what had occurred, and after business hours the husband returned with plaintiff to make enquiries about what had taken place. Further words ensued between the parties and defondant ordered them to leave the house As they were leaving, the husband being in front and the wife behind, the defendant pushed the wife, causing her to fall forward struggle and was not the result of a voluninto the street on her face. She was in the family way and the result was that the following day she had a miscarriage, and it was in respect of this assault that the present action was brought. The child, which in the ordinary way would have been born, was a boy, and was the only boy in the Marie Leon, the plaintiff, we evidence as to the assault. She admitted that after having some words with the detendant she had shaken her fist at him, and that her took her umbrells from her and struck her with it. It was not correct that in leaving the house she tripped over the step and fel into the street. Defendant deliberately pushed her into the street. She never struck the defendant.
